PhD candidates about the programme

» As an international student, I have always felt at home among colleagues with diverse cultural backgrounds. I learned a lot regarding the psychotherapy applications all over the world, and I have made some amazing friends.«

» With students that adhere to different psychotherapy schools, classes generate lively discussions in a welcoming atmosphere.«

» I chose this programme as it provides a perfect opportunity to extend my knowledge and conduct a research towards attaining a fully accredited and internationally recognized doctoral degree without giving up my psychotherapy practice in my home country.«
