

Vienna, 2020/11/02

Current information on studying and teaching at Sigmund Freud University

Measures for November 2020 in studies, teaching and administration based on the requirements of the Austrian Federal Government to combat the pandemic

Dear students,
Dear Lecturers,

Due to the current developments of the Covid-19 pandemic, the study and teaching activities at SFU will be regulated as follows from Tuesday 3rd November 2020:

- 1) Teaching at all faculties takes place in the form of distance learning.
Courses are now held online and are available either via livestream or as a recording.
- 2) Practical instruction is an important part of the education at all SFU faculties. This will take place in compliance with appropriate safety measures. The measures for the courses affected by this will be communicated directly by the respective faculties.
- 3) Detailed information on the individual degree programmes and the individual course formats is continuously provided directly by the faculties. Up-to-date information is always available from the Study Service Centre of your faculty. The colleagues of the SSC are available to answer personal questions in the usual manner.

These measures apply at least until 30th November 2020. We will keep you informed on a regular basis about current developments and specific measures for universities on the part of the Austrian Federal Government .

Univ.-Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. mult. Alfred Pritz
Rector