Study Programme Psychotherapy Science

The Psychotherapy Science study programme at the sfu provides the first pan-European academic, theoretical-scientific, and practical preparation for the psychotherapist profession. From the start studies are supplemented by student self-awareness courses and practical placements. From the third year on, the study programme provides comprehensive specialization in well-established scientific psychotherapeutic methods: psychoanalysis, systemic family therapy, Gestalt therapy, individual psychology, person-centered psychotherapy, behavioral therapy, existential analysis, and transactional analysis. Courses are offered in German or English.

Doctorate in Psychotherapy Science (Dr. scient. pth.)

The focus of the doctoral programme is on qualitative and quantitative research and based on empirical, theoretical, phenomenological, hermeneutical and historical papers, including critical analysis of existing research fields or psychotherapeutic schools. The fact that students from all over the world are involved in the international doctoral programme makes this academic study unique in its charm and atmosphere. More information at www.sfu.ac.at/en sfu Outpatient Clinic ambulanz.sfu.ac.at/en

SFU Vienna runs its own outpatient clinic consisting of a clinic for adults (+43 1 79 89 400, ambulanz@sfu.ac.at, Salztorgasse 5, 1st floor/1010 Vienna). In addition to the German outpatient clinic, there is also an international clinic that caters to the need of non-German speakers. The international clinic provides adult refugees and migrants with the highest quality of therapy. Non- and limited-English speaking adults receive care with the assistance of psychotherapy trainees who speak the languages most commonly encountered in the clinic: Turkish, Serbo-Croatian, Russian and English. In addition there are two clinics for children & adolescents, enabling students to undergo psychotherapy training in a way that complements their academic work. Clinical training is available in English.
