

Prof. Dr. Gerhard Kubik, cultural anthropologist; Ph. D. 1971 University of Vienna with a 4-volume dissertation on mukanda boys' initiation in Angola. Habilitation in 1980. Field research in Africa and the Americas on oral literature, music/dance, secret societies and the psychology of culture contact. Major discoveries in auditory psychology (auditory illusion effect etc.) and in ethnopschoanalytic studies within two African languages: Luchazi (Angola, Zambia) and Chichewa (Malawi). Publications: some 280 articles in scientific journals and several books, e.g. Extensions of African Cultures in Brazil, New York: Diasporic Africa Press 2016. Teaching: University of Vienna since 1974, University of Mainz (1996 – 1999), C.G. Jung Institut, Zürich/Küsnacht and other places. Lecture tours to U.S. A. 1993 (12 Universities) and 1997, to Japan (1998) to Brazil and numerous African and European countries. In 1995 elected to Honorary Fellowship of the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland.