Papers should deal with any application of psychology—including psychoanalysis, object relations, feminist, Jungian, or Lacanian approaches, cognitive psychology, or neuroscience—to the study of literature, film and visual media, painting, sculpture, music, performance, or the other arts. Our conference is small (maximum 75 papers), convivial, and draws scholars from around the world. We also welcome conferees who do not present papers.

Your conference registration fee pays for a reception Wednesday evening June 26th, sessions from Thursday through Sunday morning, coffee breaks, a walking tour on Thursday afternoon June 27th, and a bus tour and a final banquet on Sunday, June 30th. The registration fee is $375 U.S., $25 of which is a tax-deductible donation to the PsyArt Foundation which supports the conference, the journal, and the listserv. It is $190 for graduate students; children (under 18) of conferees; and partners, friends, or family wishing to attend only on June 30th. You must pay the registration fee for yourself and for all accompanying partners, friends, spouses, or family members, if they participate in conference events, whether or not they attend sessions. Deadline for receipt of registration fees is April 15th, 2019. Any payments received after April 15th must include a late fee of $35, and no payments will be accepted after May 15th, 2019.

The registration fee (except for the $25 donation) is refundable for any reason until June 1st, but not for any reason thereafter. The donation makes you a member of PsyArt, entitled to attend and to vote at the annual meeting to be held on Sunday, June 30th, in Vienna. Please do attend and vote.
